GENERAL OVERVIEW

Executive Summary

The American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) identified Forsyth County as an eligible local government to receive $ 74,256,322 in direct aid to combat the COVID-19 pandemic, including the public health and economic impacts. The funding from the Coronavirus State and Local Fiscal Recovery Fund (SLFRF) distribution was in two 50% direct allocations (tranches) each of $37,128,161.00; the first allocation was received on May 19, 2021, and the second was received June 9, 2022.

The mission of the Forsyth County Government is to cooperatively support and maintain a safe, healthy, convenient, and pleasant community with educational, cultural, and economic opportunities for all citizens. In responding to the pandemic and local economic recovery, Forsyth County's Recovery Plan supports sustainable, high-impact projects that align with County services, projects targeting disproportionately impacted areas and marginalized populations, and reasonable funding requests based on capacity and scale of the organization. The Forsyth County Board of Commissioners Board adopted a goal for 80% of SLFRF funds to reach the most marginalized populations and address the ARPA Federal eligible uses: public health, economic impacts, premium pay, revenue loss, and investments in infrastructure. These objectives are aligned with the county's Plan of Governmental Accountability, Public Safety, Economic Vitality, Community Health, and Public Infrastructure.

Forsyth County and its employees are committed to facilitating the community's recovery in meaningful ways, including collaboration with the public to maximize this one-time infusion of SLFRF funding. In early July 2021, Forsyth County sought public input on how Forsyth County citizens would like SLFRF funds spent. One hundred and ninety-eight Forsyth County residents completed the American Rescue Plan Act Resident Survey. Applicants could select multiple areas of interest, and the results are below.

Resident Responses by Category

1. Support Public Health Response: 70

2. Replace Public Revenue Loss: 28

3. Address Negative Economic Impacts: 116

4. Premium Pay for Essential Workers: 111

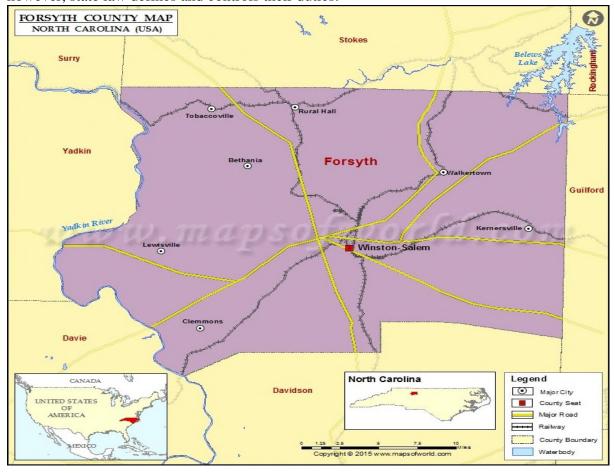

5. Water and Sewer: 48

6. Broadband Infrastructure: 57

Residents prioritized addressing negative economic impacts and premium pay for essential workers based on feedback on preferred expenditures. Forsyth County staff and The considered the following responses when recommending applicants for ARPA funding.

To ensure government accountability, the County pledges that the planned uses of funds will conform with the Treasury's Final Rule by being transparent and accountable. The County established an internal monitoring, review, and reporting process, certified eligible expenditures, and adhered to reporting requirements. The funding will be obligated before the December 31, 2024 deadline, and all ARPA expenditures will be spent by December 31, 2026, as required by federal law. The County will review the plan regularly and reallocate priorities if necessary.

Forsyth County is located in the central part of the state, known as the Piedmont Triad of North Carolina. Forsyth County government provides a wide range of public services to residents. Forsyth County employs approximately 2,055 people and has an annual operating budget and capital investments of more than $532 million. The Board each represents one district, and is each limited to two, four-year terms. Commissioners are responsible to voters; however, state law defines and controls their duties.

Uses of Funds

Forsyth County received $74,256,322 in Coronavirus State and Local Fiscal Recovery Funds (SLFRF). The County allocated these funds by mirroring its normal budget process to allow for the submission of the proposed projects to be submitted to County staff and ultimately approved by the Board. Drawing on public input received in forums, through letters and meetings with community organizations, and Commissioner requests, the County Manager developed a set of priority initiatives to support these funds. These priority initiatives are as follows:

- Art and Tourism
- Behavioral Health Support Projects
- Education Attainment Projects
- Food, Nutrition, and Health & Wellness Project
- Gun, Gang Violence Prevention
- Public Health
- Rental, Utility, and Financial Assistance Projects
- Sewer and Water Projects
- Small Business
- Workforce Development Projects
- County Administrative Expenditures
- County Premium Pay
- County Revenue Loss

These initiatives were approved by the County Commissioners to help the Board and staff align the County's mission to serve the residents with the goals of the SLFRF program. Please see the Project Inventory section of this report for project overviews, funding allocations by project, federal recovery budget initiative, expenditure category, and assessments of the projects' use of evidence.

- Trellis Supportive Care received $1,000,000 for one-time capital improvements to the HVAC system and infection control measures in the Kate B. Reynolds Hospice Home, which is a 40-bed inpatient facility on the Winston-Salem campus. Updates will include replacing the 24-year-old HVAC system and providing each room with its own temperature control. This new system will implement additional air filtration and recirculation technologies to remove, dilute, and disinfect pathogens to avoid infections like COVID-19 for patients, staff, and visitors. They will also establish a negative pressure room for infectious disease control and purchase two fog machines to sanitize rooms between patients. The upgrades also include a larger electrical generator to power the new HVAC system. Life safety regulations require that the KBR Hospice Home maintain sufficient electrical generation capacity to operate the entire HVAC system during power outages, and the upgraded HVAC system requires increased generator capacity to maintain regulatory compliance.

Negative Economic Impacts (EC 2)

The economic impact of COVID-19 put many of Forsyth County's small businesses in vulnerable financial positions. The county has moved quickly since the pandemic's beginning to provide assistance and help stabilize the small businesses critical to Forsyth's communities and economy. Last summer, with CRF funding, the county provided monies for small business support, rent and utility assistance, and other vital initiatives to stabilize communities. With the SRF funds, Forsyth County is seeking to both continue the short-term service needed to drive stability during these uncertain economic times and to make strategic investments to grow the skills of workers, help heavily impacted industries recover, and help our low and moderate-income communities grow too long term stability and independence. Forsyth County has received numerous funding requests from community members, County staff, and other organizations for those in the community most adversely economically impacted by COVID-19; the Forsyth County recovery plan will administer the following projects with recovery funds to address and assist those negatively economically affected by the pandemic. The following projects are proposed:

• Children's Law Center of Central North Carolina Program received $840,000 to expand and continue its legal advocacy for children and work to build healthy families in Forsyth County involved in civil domestic violence cases, high conflict custody cases and matters addressing the education of children with disabilities, facing disciplinary issues and dealing with mental health issues that affect school performance.

Highland Avenue which will positively impact the community's quality of life. We will accomplish this by through several mechanisms: 1) They will hire a Community Outreach Worker/Event Planner who will be responsible for coordinating programming. They will utilize the soon-to-be renovated auditorium for arts programs for the community and will offer programs, activities, and events that will engage youth, adults, and seniors. These will be located throughout the campus in various locations, such as the auditorium, Malloy Jordan Heritage Center, Public Health, Social Services, and the newly constructed park. 2) We will add several amenities to the park: an amphitheater, picnic tables, restrooms, food truck hook up, a sporting court, and the County's first inclusive playground that would provide playground equipment that can be utilized for both disabled and able-bodied individuals.

• Forsyth County received $75,000 for services to disproportionately impacted communities. The Forsyth County Department of Social Services (FCDSS) will use ARPA funds to support a pilot for a contracted full-time position to address substance use in our community. FCDSS will contract with a substance abuse agency to help a full-time Substance Abuse Navigator position specifically devoted to substance abusing parents who have children in Foster Care due to the impact of substance abuse and create a position within FCDSS to do the same. The primary focus of the Substance Abuse Navigator is to provide linkage to substance use services, provide follow-up with treatment providers, and provide updates to the Court, all to get families treatment promptly to promote timely reunification with children when appropriate. One of the pressing issues the county and the rest of the country are currently facing is homelessness. Geographically diverse communities, from high-cost urban areas to rural communities, are experiencing high rates of homelessness, mental distress, and substance use disorders. Low-income communities have been disproportionately impacted by the pandemic-related recession and need supportive housing assistance and affordable housing. Working in conjunction with the Department of Behavioral Health Services and Department of Social Services, the county is committed to reviewing ways in which it can aid underserved populations whom the COVID-19 pandemic has hit the hardest. The details of some projects are being finalized. The county is dedicated to focusing on the underserved, marginalized, and adversely affected groups in its vetting process.

Premium Pay (EC 4)

• Forsyth County received $9,537,622 of the ARPA funding for premium pay for qualified employees. Forsyth County will pay a lump sum as premium pay quarterly rather than increasing employees' hourly pay rate. Only employees who are considered essential workers in critical infrastructure sectors who regularly perform in-person work, interact with others at work, or physically handle items handled by others are eligible for premium pay. Both the lump sum premium pay and the employer share of FICA on the premium payments will be charged to the ARPA funds.

Infrastructure Projects (EC-5)

• Forsyth County Rural Hall Waterline Extension Project received $500,000. Forsyth County is proposing to improve county residents' overall quality of life by investing in water and sewer.

Revenue Replacement (EC 6)

• The County calculated revenue loss to the extent of the reduction in revenue due to the COVID–19 public health emergency and its impact on revenues collected in its most recent full fiscal year prior to the crisis, fiscal year 2018-19. According to the SLFRF Final Rule, the calculation is updated annually thereafter on a calendar year basis, as chosen by the County. The revenue replacement calculation as of 12/31/2021 is $27,125,319 of which the Board has appropriated $18,501,622.32. Per the Final Rule, the Board may use these funds on any government service with a few exceptions. The Board chose to apply these funds towards operating expenses for public safety and emergency services. To date, $18.2 million has been expended on salary costs for the Sheriff's Office and Emergency Services department. The Board plans to spend an equal amount over the next two fiscal years for the same purpose.

Administrative Cost (EC 7)

• Forsyth County received $460,824 for staff administrative cost to manage this grant and ensure compliance.

Promoting Equitable Outcomes

The magnitude of the stimulus passed by Congress and signed by President Biden on March 11, 2021, presented a historic opportunity to close opportunity gaps and build a more equitable country. Upon passage of the American Rescue Plan Act, District 21 began early and proactive conversations with experts regarding how to target relief to the residents and businesses most affected by the pandemic, both economically and in terms of health outcomes. The expertise lent to the County by these conversations directly informed what projects came under consideration.

During the budget formulation exercises that followed, there was a consistent priority placed upon proportionately delivering projects and relief, such that families who experienced the most profound hardship as a result of the public health emergency and resulting economic recession would share the most intense level of assistance, outreach, and resources not only to help resuscitate professions and careers but to help improve mental health and community resilience. Forsyth County's demographics and population distribution require an approach to pandemic recovery that recognizes and addresses the unique challenges communities face throughout Winston-Salem.

Many of Forsyth County's rural areas struggle with poverty, lack of economic opportunities, and limited access to services. Forsyth County's inclusive approach to pandemic recovery recognizes that the low-income populations face different pandemic-related challenges than the much more rural communities.

The County is committed to a recovery that acknowledges and addresses the unique challenges communities face based on their major economic sectors, demographics, proximity to social and government services, and access to technology. The County Commissioners adopted a goal of using 80% of funding made available through the public application process to serve disproportionately impacted communities. The County has identified disproportionately impacted communities based on the income guidelines from Treasury's Final Rule, as well as allowing applicants to explain how their projects serve affected communities that might not align with the assumed communities from the Final Rule.

Additionally, the County has identified qualified census tracts where a large portion of residents are historically underserved, marginalized, or adversely affected. The County has a strong commitment to equity built into its administrative processes. Each new program launched in Forsyth County, SLFRF funded or funded through state funds, requires agencies and departments to complete an online survey asking for the community's input on funding priorities. The County has held multiple information sessions, advertised in local publications, and promoted its ARPA application process online and through non-profit partners' listservs. The goal is to make information about the funding process as transparent and accessible as possible.

The County has funded a variety of agencies and programs that impact different segments of the community; however, the focus has been on programs and projects serving disproportionately impacted communities. As part of the funding agreement, agencies must provide a non-discrimination policy to provide services to all populations.

County staff worked with all interested agencies to assist them with completing the ARPA application process. When agencies could not use the online application, the team provided written applications and answered any questions they might have. The County worked with funded agencies to ensure their processes provided access across the community and eliminate administrative barriers that prevented any group from accessing services they qualify for.

The County's public funding application specifically asked how programs or projects will serve disproportionately impacted communities. The Forsyth County Board of Commissioners made it an explicit goal to allocate at least 80% of the available public funding to programs that serve these populations. As part of the application process, agencies were asked if their project or program operated in or served populations primarily in a Qualified Census Tract or low-income populations. Information obtained from each applicant and population was tracked during the implementation and monitoring phase to ensure programs serve traditionally marginalized communities.

Each awarded agency provides standard performance measures as part of their program. The County will monitor its data to ensure they serve the population it indicated. Further, to help specific demographics, the County included measures that identify populations served by these demographics. The County has approved funding for a diverse set of agencies and projects. All of these agencies are established in this community and have existing mechanisms for advertising programing. Through their project applications, agencies have provided details on the populations they serve and how they inform the community about their programs. The County will assess the agencies' outreach during monitoring visits and assist with making the public aware of these programs.

The survey was open during the first application period of July and August 2021 and provided the results to the Commissioners during the deliberation over funding decisions. These assessments require that agencies and departments carefully consider equity when designing and implementing programs.

The County made it an explicit goal of the ARPA public application process to use at least 80% of funds on projects that prioritize serving disproportionately impacted and traditionally marginalized communities. In Forsyth County, these demographics highly correlate with black and Hispanic communities.

Of the $27,255,915 allocated through the County's public application process, 75% has been allocated to programs and projects that substantially serve and benefit disproportionately impacted communities. The County believes that a significant portion of the remaining 25% will also serve these populations; however, it is waiting to finalize more specific outcomes.

These programs address several critical areas in these communities, such as gun violence and gang prevention, clean water availability, workforce development, educational attainment, small business support, behavioral health, rent, utility and financial assistance, and public health. These projects align with the existing programs and initiatives of the County that are focused on creating an equitable and prosperous community.

Please see the Project Inventory Section on page 19-27 of this report for additional details on each project funded.

Forsyth County prioritized projects and programs based on the following criteria:

- Community need/benefit
- System preservation
- Project readiness
- Commission awareness

To promote equitable outcomes, the County will review and analyze the data.

As part of the contract for funded projects, each agency is responsible for reporting performance measures monthly regarding the progress towards project goals. These measures will focus on achieving and promoting equitable outcomes and impacts on disproportionately impacted communities. The intent is to develop an assessment of the total effect on these communities across the number of different projects funded.

Community Engagement

At a public meeting of the Board of County Commissioners the SLFRF funding in the amount of $74,256,322 was accepted and budgeted.

The County made community engagement and communication of its American Rescue Plan Act public funding process a priority throughout the process. Staff marketed the application process through multiple mediums, including local news publications, the County website and social media, key community agency partner's listservs, and multiple in-person information sessions. The application was made available online and was also provided as a hard copy upon request.

- Advertisements were placed in multiple local newspapers, including the Winston-Salem Journal, Winston-Salem Chronicle, Kernersville News, and Clemmons Courier.
- The County posted multiple stories on its website and promoted them via Facebook.
- Multiple in-person information sessions were advertised and held, including several in Qualified Census Tracts and hosted at a local Community Development Corporation.
- The County used existing relationships with non-profit partners with impacted communities to advertise the process, such as Experiment in Self-Reliance, the United Way of Forsyth County, Financial Pathways of the Piedmont, and the Ministers' Conference, S.G. Adkins CDC, and others.

Additionally, the County opened an online survey asking for the community's input on funding priorities. This survey was open during the first application period of July and August 2021, and the results were provided to the Commissioners during the deliberation over funding decisions. The survey was advertised similarly to the application itself.

In developing plans, the County met with departments, outside agencies, and elected officials to discuss recovery needs that comply with SLFRF Interim Final Rule. Constituents and business owners reached out to Commissioners and the County Manager. As the County moves forward in its SLFRF funding, it will do so with the active participation of communities and with the priorities of the Commissioners and the residents of Forsyth County.

Labor Practices

Once infrastructure projects have started the County will administer and comply with labor requirements as required by the state and federal grants. The County will ensure strong labor standards to promote effective delivery of high-quality infrastructure projects, to support the local economy and local employment.

Use of Evidence

The COVID-19 pandemic and the corresponding economic crisis have had a devastating impact on many groups in Forsyth County. These groups have experienced a disproportionate number of COVID-19 infections and deaths and higher-than-average unemployment rates. As agreements with subrecipients managing Board approved projects are finalized, the County will describe the goals and the evidence base for the interventions funded by each project and initiative. The projects and initiatives with dollar amounts allocated toward evidence-based interventions will be reported and tracked.

The SLFRF funds were allocated on an expedited timeline but still followed the basic steps of evidence-based budgeting. Each new SLFRF investment included in Forsyth County's proposed budget was reviewed for its evidence base prior to being submitted to the Commissioners. The Commissioners made changes and additions to the proposed SLFRF investments. With additions and adjustments made by the Commissioners still being transmitted to agencies, this first annual report reflects a conservative estimate of the number of projects and expenditures that meet the Treasury's definition of "evidence based." In the project inventory attached, the listed programs are designed to meet a Strong or Moderate evidence standard and will be implemented in alignment with those standards. If a project contains components that are evidence-based, it may include an impact evaluation. The county expected the final amount of evidence-based funds to depend on 1) the final program designs, 2) the projects that include program evaluations, and 3) the results of those evaluations. As agencies refine their programs, we will collaborate with them to add evidence-based practices where appropriate. As a result, we expect that next year's report, and subsequent reports will provide a more comprehensive assessment of evidence-based investments funded with SLFRF.

Table of Expenses by Expenditure Category

The County will utilize the appropriate expenditure category as defined in the SLFRF Final Rule and Compliance Guidance. Below is a condensed table of expenditures to date by expenditure category.

Performance Report

Performance management is critical to achieving the scale of change that the Forsyth Recovery Plan seeks to deliver to transform the County. Given the number of initiatives put in place, the County has created mechanisms to assess each initiative's impact on the County's recovery while meeting compliance requirements. Performance metrics have been developed for the SLFRF-funded initiatives and included in subsequent Project and Expenditure Reports, as directed by recent U.S. Department of the Treasury guidance. This information is also included in the Use of Funds (Expenditure Category) sections found after the Executive Summary of this report highlighted in blue. The Forsyth County Recovery Plan and performance management capability are not just arbitrary decisions, but they align with the evidence-based selection criteria for identifying the initiatives, providing a solid foundation for our actions. Therefore, the initiatives have demonstrated a track record of success by providing improved outcomes, investing funds effectively, and managing risks. Based on the evidence, each initiative has established performance measures to track progress, impacts, and results.

It was crucial to monitor the timing of the funds, given their one-time nature. As initiatives are developed and implemented, stringent timelines and schedules are in place to ensure efficient fund utilization. To determine the extent to which the programs are ongoing, transition plans are developed and implemented. Forsyth's approach to implementing a performance culture is supported by four key elements: foundational fact-finding, policy analysis, program evaluation, and performance management.
